

WEST SCRANTON

PRETTY DOLLS AT CARNIVAL

CLEVER EXHIBIT UNDER AUSPICES OF THE Y. W. C. A.

Something to Delight the Children and Interest the Older Ones—Features of the Affair and Programme for This Evening—Lutheran Pastors Meet at Rev. A. L. Ramer's Study—George Glander Attempts Suicide by Cutting Himself with a Razor—Death of Former Resident.

The dolls' carnival was opened last evening in the Banner block under very auspicious conditions, and the patronage was exceedingly gratifying to the promoters. The exhibition is certainly cleverly arranged and there are dolls registered by many of the first families of the city. An accurate description of all the dolls would require unlimited space, and a visit to the carnival will give a more pleasing impression than a word picture.

The booths are arranged on either side of the store room, and are decorated artistically. Especial care has been taken to interest the children, and many a little heart will be gladdened by the sight of such an array of dolls. The exhibit will continue throughout the week, afternoon and evening, and a general public inspection is invited.

The entertainment provided last evening was given by the association quartette, composed of Misses Elizabeth Heiser, Bertha Sanders, Edna Saxe and Vio Jones. They sang admirably and received much praise for their work. The Misses Saxe and George Martin played instrumental selections in a clever manner, and delighted the large assembly present.

Mrs. J. J. Roberts is chairman of the doll committee, and the following ladies presided over the various booth last evening: Mrs. G. A. Williams, Miss Edna Williams, Mrs. Harry Nelmyer, Misses Anna Morgan and Laura Davis, Mrs. Clarence Shroyer, Mrs. David J. Davis, Misses Mason and Westcott, Mrs. B. G. Beddoe, Misses Emma Lewis, Marilla Mott, Elizabeth Heiser, Anna Edwards and Florence Gibbs.

The exhibitors are Florey & Brooks, Clarence L. Shroyer, J. E. Hesse, Ealing Co., Lewis, Ruddy Davies & Murphy, J. W. Tague and Clarke Bros. In addition to the merchants' booths, there are four stalls occupied by the association.

clation for the exhibit of dolls, the serving of refreshments and selling candy. Many dolls are for sale, while the registration dolls are merely on exhibition. The latter are all tastefully dressed and present a fascinating appearance.

There is also exhibited a Scotch lassie, through the kindness of James Lawson, formerly of Aberdeen, Scotland, and the French doll donated by Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt to be sold to the highest bidder. The highest offer thus far made for the pretty price is $5. In one of the windows there is a life-size doll, and among the exhibits is one they call "baby," which is the size of an ordinary infant.

Several pieces of doll's furniture are also exhibited, and Miss Westcott's embroidery class have a pretty display of dollies, collar tabs, handkerchiefs, fancy ribbon bows, etc. The Hesse exhibit consists of a miniature reproduction of their bakery building and accessories. The merchants' exhibits consist of their stock in trade and all are cleverly arranged to attract the patrons.

The programme for this evening will be as follows: Selections, Washburn Street Bible School orchestra; trio, Miss Elizabeth Lewis, William and John Evans; piano duet, Mrs. D. R. Thomas and Miss Elizabeth Hughes; vocal solo, Mrs. Frank Brundage; duet, Mrs. Randolph Jones and Miss Vio Jones; vocal solo, Miss Helen Thomas; recitation, Miss May; dramatic posing, Miss Sadie Jones and class.

Lutheran Pastors' Meeting.

The Scranton and Wilkes-Barre Pastors' association of the Lutheran church held their monthly meeting yesterday in Rev. A. L. Ramer's study, on South Lincoln avenue. The following clergymen were in attendance: Rev. L. Lindenstruth, Rev. W. L. Hunt, Rev. P. D. Rev. H. P. J. Seneker, of Wilkes-Barre; Rev. Theo. Zuber, Rev. O. F. Brunsen, Rev. W. Conrad, of Pittston; Rev. F. Elunger, of Carbondale; Rev. C. G. Spieker, Rev. W. C. Lauer, Rev. James Witke and Rev. A. L. Ramer, of Scranton.

The opening topic for discussion was the study of the gospel lesson in Greek. A series of business discussions, pertaining to the church followed, and then the pastors took cognizance of an editorial printed recently in the Philadelphia North American, pertaining to Rev. Charles Sheldon's attitude towards secular pastimes.

The clergymen observed that the editorial in question was most appropriate and timely, and they characterized Rev. Sheldon's methods as being "more blasphemous than sacred." Rev. Lindenstruth presented an excellent paper on the question of "Proper instruction to the children in the church by the catechetical method."

He gave an historical study, tracing the method back to the primitive Christian church and the church history shows the method to be efficacious. The discussion which followed crowded out several other papers, which will be presented at subsequent meetings.

The question of preparing an Easter programme was discussed, and the pastors thought it advisable to prepare separate services to meet the requirements of their respective churches. The next meeting place will be decided upon by the officers of the association.

Rev. Ramer entertained his guests at dinner at Hotel Fairchild during the noon hour.

Glander Attempted Suicide.

George Glander, the Jackson street barber, who recently created a sensation among his friends by mysteriously disappearing from home, yesterday morning made an unsuccessful attempt to end his life by cutting his left hand with a razor, inflicting an ugly flesh wound, from which he nearly bled to death.

The relatives of the unfortunate fellow are very reticent about the matter, but from what could be learned of the circumstances Glander had been drinking and went to the shop to sleep. He was found by his brother Fred lying on the floor in a pool of blood, and Dr. L. H. Raymond was quickly summoned. When the latter arrived Glander was very weak, and it was with difficulty that he was removed to his brother's home.

His condition was changed for the better last evening and hopes are entertained for his ultimate recovery. This is the second time Glander has tried to end his life, the first attempt being made in the shop by him some time ago, when he turned on the gas and was nearly asphyxiated. At that time his brother discovered him in the nick of time.

Glander is young man well known about town, and is married, and lives with his family on North Bromley avenue, near Lafayette street. He has been in the barber business on Jackson street for a number of years with his brother Fred.

SOUTH SCRANTON

OPENING OF ATHLETIC CLUB'S FAIR.

An Immense Throng Gathered Last Night in Athletic Hall Which Had Been Splendidly Decorated for the Occasion—Those Who Presided at the Many Booths—Death of Raymond Lisk in the Philippines. Birthday Party Given by Miss Clara Wayland—Other Notes.

The Scranton Athletic club threw open the doors of Athletic hall on Alder street last night and welcomed the public to its fair, which was most auspiciously opened, an immense and jovial throng being present.

The hall is lavishly adorned and festooned with bunting, drapery, flags, streamers, banners and palms, and as entrances it presents a charming and varied kaleidoscope of colors. On either side of the hall are arranged booths, five in number, which are tent-like in form, varied in color, and from which spears and banners are hung, making the aisle a veritable midway.

In the center of the building is a flower booth, conducted by Marvin and Muir, and at one end is a small candy booth, while the irrepressible fishing pond occupies a prominent corner. The booths have been adorned and decorated, and are in charge of the ladies—wives, sisters and sweethearts of the boys of the club.

The articles for sale have all been donated by various firms in the central city and outside, and are of all shape, design and appearance, from dolls' cradles to bedroom suites, and from wash wringers to parlor heaters. Beautiful fancy work, exquisite needle work, quilts enough to stock a county fair, lamps, harness—everything is displayed. A rummage sale is a weakling compared with this.

Myrtle's crowd present was trying not to part with their cash, by dodging the young ladies with chance books the Ringgold band, seated on the stage, discoursed the following programme:

March, "Homeop".....Duncan
Overture, "The Black Prince".....Daly
Selection, "Blue and Gray".....Daly
March, "W. V. Y.".....Duncan

Refreshments are for sale in the basement of the hall. During the evening the fair is conducted, there will be a short entertainment, differing each night. A phonograph concert will be the drawing card this evening.

The following ladies have charge of the booths:

A Birthday Party.

A very pleasant surprise party was tendered Miss Clara Wayland last evening, at her home on Stone avenue, by a large number of her friends, the occasion of the gladdest visit being her fifteenth birthday. The evening was most enjoyably spent in indulging in various games and amusements, interspersed with music, songs by Miss Jennie Creedon and recitations by Miss Frances Meyer, and dancing, the music for which being furnished by Miss Sadie Noon. Later, refreshments were served, and the young people departed for home, wishing Miss Wayland many happy birthdays.

Those present were Misses Jennie Creedon, Tessie McGoldrick, Frances Meyers, Cella Barrett, Mame McGovern, Mame Lynch, Belle Keenan, Anna McGovern, Cecelia Kennedy, Josephine Wrenn, Margaret McDonnell, Anna Pryor, Ella Golden, Anna Shaw, Kate Wrenn, and Messrs. Pleasant Evening Spent.

A pleasant surprise party was tendered Joseph Nordy, of Elm street, at the home of Mrs. Nordy, Saturday evening. The young man was serenaded by the South Side Polish band and the Moruska band. Refreshments were also served, prior to which there were games and dancing indulged in.

Those present were Misses Welmica Lucille and Julietta Narodzenko, Josephine Nadolska, Anna Piaszynska, Anna Keller, Julia Keller, Emilie Zell, Valeria Maurocka, Anna Becker, and Messrs. Joseph Narodzenko, John Potentz, Joseph Yerka, Joseph Barzozowski, John Skibinski, Frank Niedbalski, John Gorczynski, Albert Pawel, Alex. Shyczynski, Adam Rzaucki, Albert Pawel, Vincent Hess, Joseph Torba and Leo Skibinski.

Death of Raymond Lisk.

News was received yesterday through the columns of the York Sun of the death in the Philippine Islands of First Sergeant Raymond Lisk, of Company D, Forty-seventh United States Infantry, Nov. 4. His death was caused by pulmonary congestion.

The deceased formerly lived on Cedar avenue, where he was a popular young man, and was formerly a member of the Thirteenth regiment. His death will, no doubt, be a surprise to his relatives and friends in this part of the city, who have communicated with the war department for particulars.

Young Lisk was of exemplary character and enlisted in Scranton ten years ago as a private, but by close application to duty and hard work he rose to the rank of first sergeant and was commended for gallantry in action several times.

Doctor of Music, the Dean of American Piano Teachers, and a musician whose knowledge of his chosen instrument is consummate, writes as follows regarding

Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte

"Aug. 1, 1900.

"Gentlemen: The Upright Pianoforte which I recently purchased of you is a constant source of delight to me. Its beautifully musical tone and delicately responsive action are in such admirable adjustment as to induce a musical state on the part of the player and even suggest musical ideas to the composer.

"It is an instrument for the musically intelligent, especially for those to whom a Grand Pianoforte is for any reason desired."

We delight in showing the Mason & Hamlin Upright, and the Baby Grand, to all persons appreciating an absolutely artistic piano.
